WHAT A TRAMP SAYS OF ALEXANDRIA. Frank Lewis, the moste man, who was worpped here last Friday for a caling a coal had, thus describes his interview with the Alexandria police to Lient. Eskloff, at police headquarters, to Washington: "That Alexandria is the werst place in the world. They whipped me there is week because I bought an old coal hod; laid on to my bare back with a tope two isoles thick, with a hock at the end of it, which took out a piece of flesh as big as my fist everytime it struck, and now I am all over parcus plasters. What do you thick of that. Lieutonant?" "I thick," said the officer. "chat they didn't bit a lick amiss." "But I got even outh them," continu d Lewis. soon as I got up I made a swipe at the Mayor and out a gash across his face long as my arm, and ran down to the steamboat." That's a lie," said the truthful officer. It becoming necessary for Lewis to leave Washington, he went to Baltimore where he was arrested on a charge of petry larceny Thursday night and confixed in a cell in the police station. Xesterday moraing the carakey detected the smell of something burning, and on examination found that Lewis had set fire to bis clothing, asying that he wanted to warm up. The turnly you out the fire, which was only slight and aid no damage of consequence to the prisoner's cloth.

THE I DIOTIC AND SUICIDAL MULE CASE. Thursday in the Circuit Cante, in Washington, the case of Adams & Windser vs. the Alexandria & Fredericksburg Railway Compacy came up for trial on appeal by plaintiffs from a jungment of Justice O'Nest. The suit was insittuted to recover $100 damages claimed to be the value of a mule killed by collision with a train, in Arlington Distric, Alexandria contty. In the fermer trial the defendant maintained that the mule was apparently blind and idiotic, having trespessed on the railroad tracks on a pitch-dark night for the purpose of medi tation or suicide, and upon the approach of the Decemotive deliberately threw its head over the outer rail of the track, and striking the humper of the engine was buried to its death. At the close of the plaintiff's evidence yesterday the defendant's coursel requested the court to dismiss the cause on the ground that the defendant was a foreign corperation and not amenable to suit in this jurisdiction. The court sustained the motion and the cause was accordingly dismissed with costs.

THE ARLINGTON "GUIDES."-The Washington Crine says: "The mente men, or Arlington guides, have returned, and to-day could have been seen in groups of two and three in the vicinity of the Peace monument, at the foot of the Capital, waiting for victims to turn & Bro., cor. King and Washington streets. up. The Washington mente worker is a low, mean specimen, and among professionals is known as a 'meh worker,' that is, he operates from and about bar rooms. The city as well as the Capitol policemen walk by them without saying a word, and while they do not appear to "oap" directly for them, there is every indica-tion of a "stand in." There is symething wrong somewhere. Where is it?"

CAPSIZED -Mr. Dean and his son, of the the first word, went out gunning yesterday in a small skiff. When in Oxon Creek, on the op-1 0site side of the river, by the firing of a large gun at a flock of ducks, the bost was capsized, dumping the gunners and guns into the river, Mr. Dean and his son narrowly escaped drown ing. They, however, succeeded in righting the skiff, and strived home safely. The gues were not recovered.
